Seven Bills Introduced by Sen- ator Drake to Correct the Evil.

Columbus, Jan. 15.—After enumerating details of municipal and county graft which ran the scale from carmen pinks to hundreds of thousands of dollars, the Drake investigating committee of the Ohio senate, which yesterday filed a voluminous report, recommended that a new committee be appointed to take up the work of investigating the city of Cincinnati and county of Hamilton. The Drake probe was halted by a test suit, which after many months, was decided by the Supreme court adversely to the committee. The court held the committee should have received its authority from both houses of the general assembly and not from the senate alone.

Although Senator Arthur Espy, a member of the committee yesterday said he would urge the appointment of a new committee, the opinion is general that the legislature at the present session is not likely to go in for any additional probing. The enactment of legislation, the need for which was disclosed by the amazing graft revealed in the bailiwick of George B. Cox, however, is considered probable. The committee yesterday submitted several bills designed to bring about reforms, the desirability of which was manifest as a result of the disclosures of suddenly acquired wealth on the part of certain Hamilton county residents more or less identified with politics and public office.

The committee scores not only the former county treasurers who put into their pockets hundreds of thousands of dollars collected as interest on deposits made, with banks illegally, but condemns the bankers as well. It says that three former treasurers returned a total of $214,000 to avoid criminal prosecution, and that county commissioners and other former officials undoubtedly connived at the corruption, which was going on for years. "Criminal" is the adjective used by the report with reference to the transactions with the banks, of which it says:

We think there cannot be the slightest doubt, from the testimony, that the banks connected with the irregularities of the treasurer, felt and knew that the loaning of the funds of the county to them was illegal, and, in fact, criminal; that they connived at such criminality, and in many instances upheld and encouraged it; that they sought to cover up the evidences of it; that they looked upon the payment of interest to the treasurer as illegal, and sought to make it irregular and unusual ways, so as not to disclose the real nature of the transaction, and in many ways sought to uphold and protect the treasurers in their illegal acts. That the moneyed institutions of a community should participate in such transactions, in order to reap the small benefits which accrue from such violations of law, indicates a lowering of the standard of business integrity which is usually attributed to them. Your committee feels can scarcely be denied, and while we have no remedial legislation to recommend, which is adequate to cure such evils, we feel that they should be brought before the public for the condemnation which they deserve.

The committee speaks plainly about the effort of George B. Cox to induce the circuit court judges to reverse a verdict of a lower court in favor of the city against the Lane & Bodley company for $238,712. Cox had the judges go to his office over the "Mecca" saloon, and asked them separately to reverse the decision. Judge Ferdinand Jelke replied that the judgment of the court would be based solely on the record of testimony and later was retired from the bench when he sought renomination. Judge Giffen, a second member of the court, testified that he had told Cox he "understood it took about 30 days to try it (the case) and the court occupying 30 days in trying a case of that nature would probably make error that would require it to be reversed." This judge subsequently became ill and was not present to participate in the final disposition of the case.

Following the report of the committee, Senate John C. Drake of Erie county, chairman of the Drake committee introduced seven bills the purpose of which is to correct the laws which leave the loopholes through which the committee claims the grafters dragged the spoils in Hamilton county.

SEC. TAFT WILL NOT RESIGN.
Washington, Jan. 15.—Secretary Taft has indicated that he would like to be quoted as saying that there is absolutely no foundation for the rumors that he is to resign from the cabinet. The printed story was to the effect that Secretary Taft would resign and devote his entire attention to his campaign for nomination for president.

Abolish Relief System.
Columbus, Jan. 15.—The perennial bill, abolishing the relief departments of the Pennsylvania and B. & O. and forbidding the establishing of any system requiring its members to surrender their claims to damages for personal injuries, was Tuesday offered to the lower House by Representative Daniel J. O'Rourke, of Toledo, independent member, and a former railroad man. It died in the file boxes at the last session.

TRUST COMPANY

AT NORWALK GOES INTO VOL-UNTARY LIQUIDATION THIS MORNING.

Claimed that Depositors Will Be Paid In Full—Caused By Financial Stringency.

Norwalk, O., Jan. 15.—The Ohio Trust Co. made a voluntary deed of assignment this morning and Hugh E. Barnes and T. Lindale Smith of Cleveland, were appointed assignees. The general financial stringency which made it impossible for the company to raise sufficient funds with which to continue business impelled the directors to order the company to go into voluntary liquidation as the best protection for all interests. The assets are estimated at $300,000. Liabilities are not given. Bank officials say the depositors will be paid in full.

years are treated in a bill introduced in the Senate by the Senator from Maine, who is chairman of the committee on Naval Affairs. The bill is in part the result of the controversy over the assignment of a surgeon to the command of a hospital ship by President Roosevelt. Other criticism of the navy, both of its administration and the construction of its ships, is reflected in the bill.

A number of witnesses have been examined and it is expected that before the close of the day the panel will be completed and the case ready for the statement of the prosecutor. Considerable interest is being manifested.

FLEET OFFICERS BEING ROYALLY ENTERTAINED TODAY

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 15.—The flag officers of the American fleet now at anchor in the roadstead, accompanied by some of the senior captains, are today being entertained by Dr. Penna, president of the Brazilian republic, at the executive palace. To meet them there was invited a number of the leading Brazilian officials and merchants. The president took occasion to praise the conduct of the American soldiers on shore and to express his great admiration for the United States. Later they were entertained at a most elaborate luncheon. This afternoon all of the officers and the newspaper correspondents accompanying the fleet are the guests of Ambassador Dudley at the American embassy, where a garden party has been arranged. To this latter function 1,000 of the leading society ladies have received invitations.

The conduct of the men ashore has been a revelation to the police of this city. Alfredo Paito, the chief of police, declaring that while many fleets in the past have visited Brazil, there has never been a better behaved crowd of sailors landed. There was one slight row when the Brazilian and Portuguese men attacked a party of sailors who refused to pay an exorbitant price to be rowed on shore, and the sailors involved returned at once to their ships, where an investigation is being made.

There is still considerable comment over the failure of the officers of the German cruiser, Bremen, to attend the entertainments given by the Brazilian naval officers on Mount Corcovado.

The American officers are arranging an entertainment as a slight return for the hospitality they have received. It will take the form of a reception to be held on the four flagships of the squadron. Afterwards there will be a dance. Argentina is to send a division of warships to meet the American fleet off Patagonia, while a Chilean squadron will meet them off the southerly-east coast and escort them to Chilean waters.

CORTELYOU

THAT HE INTENDED RESIGN-ING FROM CABINET.

Gossip Says Secretary Had Quarrelled
With President Roosevelt Over Presidential Candidacy.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou today authorized the United Press to say that he has not resigned and has no intention of resigning from the cabinet. It was also announced by Secretary Loeb today that there is absolutely no truth in the report that Cortelyou has resigned. Loeb added that the secretary had not even given the slightest intimation that he intended to resign. The story as circulated here last night, was that Cortelyou had tendered his resignation to the President to take effect as soon as the President should have selected a suitable man for the place. It was rumored that Cortelyou was to become the president of the Knickerbocker Trust Co. of New York. Gossip said that Cortelyou recently had a quarrel with the President, over Cortelyou's ambition to be the Republican candidate instead of Taft.

Some men are despondent because they can't get out of debt, and some because they can't get in.

EVIDENCE

INTRODUCED TUESDAY TO SHOW
THAW MENTALLY IRRE-SPONSIBLE.

Mother of Prisoner Leaves For New York—Littleton Retained Regarding Evelyn's Testimony.

New York, Jan. 15.—Startling evidence tending to show that Harry K. Thaw was a mental wreck during the daylight hours of June 25, 1906, the night of which he killed Stanford White, was introduced today in the testimony of Christopher Biggin, former steward of the New York Whist club, where Thaw was a constant player. Biggin testified to prisoner's notable eccentricity, his unnatural pallor and his extreme nervousness only a few hours previous to the killing of White. He climaxed his evidence by reciting how Thaw on the morning of the tragedy had given him a package which the prisoner declared was of great value and which must be kept in the club safe. Upon opening the package later, Biggin found it to contain three ordinary cigarettes rolled in tin-foil, obviously of no value to a man of Thaw's circumstances. Other witnesses called during the morning session all proved valuable to the defense in emphasizing unnatural acts of Thaw prior to and immediately subsequent to the killing. Word reached the courtroom today that Mrs. Wm. Thaw, mother of the prisoner, would leave Pittsburgh for New York some time today and might reach the courtroom before the close of the day's session.

Attorney Littleton positively declined to state his plans regarding the introduction of evidence by Evelyn Thaw.

As the trial progresses, attaches of the courtroom declare that Thaw gets nearer and nearer to the gates of the state asylum for criminal insane at Mattewan with the evidence of each witness.

TAFT MEN ARE TURNED DOWN

SENATORS FORAKER AND DICK DEFEAT CONFIRMATION OF POSTMASTERS.

Senior Senator Declares There Will
Be No Prostitution of Federal Patronage.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Rejection, yesterday, by the Senate of the nomination of four Ohio postmasters at the request of Senators Dick and Foraker, because the postmasters had been active in behalf of the Taft boom shows the hostility of the senate to the President and Taft and indicates that Senators Dick and Foraker intend to fight Taft to a finish in Ohio.

Among those marked for slaughter is said to be Judge John T. Sater of Columbus, nominated for additional judge of the United States court for the Southern district of Ohio, over Senator Foraker's recommendation of John J. Adams of Zanesville. It is hinted also that Bernard Bettman, nominated for international revenue collector at Cincinnati is on the Foraker-Dick black list.

In commenting on the matter Senator Foraker said:

"There will be no further prostitution of federal patronage in order to carry out political bargains without its being resented. There will be other objections to nominations wherever it is found that the appointments were made in pursuance of a political compact."

MASHED

To a Pulp Was the Body of Man
Caught in Machinery at Frazey-sburg—Leaves Family.

Frazeysburg, Jan. 15.—Caught in the whirling shaft of the Frazeysburg Grist mill and Electric Light plant, Tuesday night, James Sitt, 48 years of age, was whirled about the shafting at the rate of 260 revolutions a minute, every bone in the lower part of his body was broken and both feet were mashed off from continually striking the floor. A ten year old boy was the only witness of the terrible accident. He ran screaming to Sitt's partner who stopped the machinery which was running at full speed, and released the lifeless body. Sitt was throwing a lever and his right sleeve catching in a clutch drew his arm and body into the whirling wheels and belts. His mother, wife, one son, two brothers and one sister survive him.

WIDOW OF WAR OF 1812

Residing in This City May Receive a Pension of $50 per Month if Bill Passes.

At the request of Carl Norpell, attorney for Mrs. Harriet Hickey, who resides with her son, William Hickey Jr., at 115 Columbia street, Hon. Wm. A. Ashbrook has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives providing for $50 a month pension to Mrs. Hickey, who, it is understood, is one of the only three surviving widows of the war of 1812.

Mrs. Hickey, who is over 70 years old, is the widow of William Hickey, late of Captain Van Metre's company of the Virginia Militia, which served in the war of 1812. Mr. Hickey died in 1890, being over 93 years of age. Beside the widow he left a number of children, one of whom is Mrs. Henry Metz, of this city.

Mr. Hickey and his family at one time resided in the eastern part of the county, near Wilkin's Run, and it was there that for many years the celebration of Mr. Hickey's birthday was looked forward to, annually.

Congressman Ashbrook's bill is as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled: That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to place on the pension roll, subject to the provisions and limitations of the pension laws, the name of Harriet Hickey, widow of William Hickey, late of Captain Van Metre's company, Virginia Militia, war of eighteen hundred and twelve, and pay her a pension at the rate of fifty dollars per month in lieu of that she is now receiving."

DR. LEWIS

Of Utica Charged With Bootlegging
Liquor is Being Tried by Mayor Atherton.

While the temperance people of Utica were slowly gathering data to prosecute the cases against Dr. F. L. Lewis, the physician who is charged with the unlawful sale of liquor within the corporate limits of the village, several others got busy and by a clever move took the case from the jurisdiction of Mayor Bricker and the justices of Utica and brought the case to Newark.

On January 10, August Applegate, a glass worker of that place, appeared before Mayor Atherton and filed twelve affidavits against the doctor for the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

In his various affidavits he claims liquor was sold to Guy Ervin, Stanley Kravis, James Dove, a detective, Ed Davidson, Wilbur Dixon, John Ervin, Smith Harriman. Three times liquor was sold to Guy Haas and twice to Ed Parkhurst.

He was very indefinite about his dates, and so included the time for the sale of the liquor between April 4 and December 26, 1907. The case is being tried before Mayor Atherton this afternoon, it being called at 1 o'clock. Dr. Lewis came to Utica from Mt. Vernon and established his office in the Wilson block. He is married, his wife being a daughter of a clerk in the United States District court in Chicago.

Mayor Bricker came to Newark as soon as he heard of the subpoenas that were issued and took a look at the affidavits. Nothing was said to him about the case.

NEW PRIVATE CAR IN WRECK.

Steubenville, Jan. 15.—The new private car of General Manager McKee of the Vandalia division, attached to the rear of westbound Pan Handle No. 13, jumped the track at Hanlins, Pa., crossover last night. The train was running at high speed and all of the cars were more or less damaged.

TO MANDAMUS OLD OFFICERS.

Wapakoneta, Jan. 15.—Dr. A. F. Randolph, the mayor-elect of Rockford, has filed a suit to mandamus C. Smith, the old mayor, and Frank W. Miller, the old clerk, to compel them to canvass the vote and legally notify the officers elected. A month ago the old council declared the offices vacant and ousted the new council.

BODIES

Of 168 Victims of Boyertown Fire Recovered

TWENTY-FIVE MISSING

Undertakers and Assist- ants Work All Night Preparing Remains

Inefficiency and Cowardice of Fire Department is Charged.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 15.—At 9 o'clock this morning a most ghastly and sickening spectacle of the disaster of Monday night was enacted at the public school house. All night three undertakers, with fifteen assistants, had labored with a charred pile of mangled and disfigured bodies. By daylight this morning each body together with clothing and other articles of identity found had been laid on separate planks, placed upon the school house desks. The greater portion of the population of the little city, together with scores of bereaved people from the surrounding country and towns lined up before the school house doors. The doors were opened and people were permitted to enter in single file and pass along the marked course through the ranks of the dead. More than one hundred bodies lay side by side when the grim procession started through the school. As fast as a cry of anguish announced that one of the reviewers had identified his dead, the body was borne away on the plank. Dr. Koehler, Burgess of Boyertown, issued a proclamation today announcing that all bodies must be buried whether identified or not within three days. When the exploration of the ruins of the opera house was resumed this morning 168 bodies had been recovered. Men are at work in the debris and believe that more than six or eight additional bodies will be found. Burgess Koehler's figures, however, show that 25 persons are still reported missing and he fears that most of these, together with others probably not reported will be found in the ruins. Of the bodies recovered 110 are females and 43 males. Others are so badly burned that their sex cannot be told. Twenty-two of the bodies are those of small children and forty more those of boys and girls in their teens. Much unfavorable comment is being heard of the action of the Boyertown fire department and many charges of ignorance and inefficiency and cowardice are heard. It is also asserted that the department is so demoralized that it did little toward saving those in danger and after the Pottstown department arrived drinking was general and the rival fire fighters battled in the streets.

Most of the bodies which have been cared for by the authorities will be removed to the victims' homes today and the next three days will see a continuous procession of funeral parties. A corps of undertakers from Reading, Pottstown and neighboring cities arrived today to assist in attempting to arrange the bodies of the unidentified dead in a manner to make them presentable to the grief-stricken throngs.

Church societies have taken over the small children made orphans and in a number of homes orphaned children in their teens, are making arrangements for the burial of dead parents.

The entire community appears to be stunned. Business is at a standstill. The streets are deserted of vehicles, but crowded with people who wander aimlessly from one temporary morgue to another. To date Coroner Robert Strausser has been unable to find enough men unburdened by personal grief and loss to fill a jury for inquest.

ASSAULT RESULTS IN DEATH.

Bucyrus, Jan. 15.—Geo. Q. Mallory, who was assaulted and left in an unconscious condition on the street Sunday night, died in the hospital yesterday as a result of his injuries. There is no clue to his assailants. Mallory was a rural mail carrier.

THE OHIO STATE LEAGUE IS FORMED

With Four O-P Teams as Nucleus
---Springfield, Lima and Richmond Assured

And Zanesville, Muncie and Hamilton to Select From for the Eighth--Bobby Quinn Elected President.

The Ohio State league has been formed and when the season opens four new towns will be playing with the four old Westerners. The new members of the league, Lima, Springfield and Richmond, Ind., are enthusiastic over their landing safely with the money making division of the O. P., and promises are very bright for a season in baseball that will far surpass anything ever before in this circuit. The eighth town that will fill out the league, has not yet been decided upon, but the choice rests between Hamilton, Muncie, Ind., and possibly Zanesville.

Bobby Quinn, business manager of the Columbus baseball club, was elected president of the new league and Bob Reed, sporting editor of the Ohio State Journal, was elected secretary.

The presidents of the four original teams, A. A. Stassel of Newark, Paul Sturges of Mansfield, O. Wollenweber of Marion, and J. A. Davidson of Lancaster, held a caucus in a private room at the Neil House

Paul Sturges was a busy man as he had to look after the interests of Mansfield, and act as proxy for Lima. The grounds in that city are well laid out for baseball and the people are worked up to a high pitch of excitement.

RULER OF THE NEW OHIO STATE LEAGUE

during the morning, and reviewed the work of the past and the work banking up for the future. They were all very well satisfied with the break made with the Eastern teams, and the fact that a better league than ever was to be formed made everything look rosy.

Towards noon different representatives began dropping in from various cities, and when the party went to lunch they were 15 strong. The matter was talked over informally at dinner and the meeting was not called to order until 2:30 o'clock. J. A. Davis of Lancaster, was elected chairman of the meeting, and A. A. Stassel of this city was elected secretary. A resolution was made that the four Western cities of the old O. P. dissolve the old league and form a new one. The vote was unanimous, and now the Ohio-Pennsylvania league is a thing of the past as far as the West is concerned. Youngstown, Akron, Sharon and New Castle will probably hang onto the old name and the O. P. will hustle along in a fashion of the Eastern clubs.

Mr. Wollenweber of Marion moved the motion that the new league be formed and called the Ohio State league, and that it ask protection under class C for the following cities: Newark, Marion, Mansfield, Lancaster, Lima, Springfield, Hamilton, Richmond and Muncie. This league will be made up from this city. Mr. Davidson then made a motion that a president be elected, and Bobby Quinn, known to every baseball fan in the Buckeye state, and other states for that matter, was elected president. Robert W. Reed was officially appointed secretary of the new circuit.

ment, and the promise of a good season in that city is assured. The business men are interested as they fully realize the value of a good ball team in a good circuit as a means of advertising the town. Newark was never better advertised than she was last season when the wonderful pennant race was on.

People of a distance, one man from California, who attended the Cleveland meeting, spoke to the Newark delegation and of the wonderful race he made. "Why, I followed the race every day," he remarked. The O. P. games of last year reached even to Mexico City, and were printed in the Herald there.

Richmond will have good backing as 25 business men of that city will form a stock company to start the baseball season off in first class style.

A committee, composed of the presidents of the original members of the league, will visit the proposed cities within a few days and pick out the ball team for the league. While Springfield, Richmond and Lima are secured, Zanesville and Muncie have the best chance for the new league. The dual-county capital has the central league base in their honor, but they decide now to come over to the Ohio State league since it is an assured fact. The game will be as fast and the expenses less, and the league should be more alluring than the old one.

When the election of Bobby Quinn was made all chances of unfairness were vanquished. While Morton did his best as president, he was not a baseball man in any sense of the word and his decisions to teams other than Akron, were often very rank and showed a partiality. Many times during the summer it was printed in papers over the league territory, that a president should be elected who would be impartial, and that could best be secured by electing a man that did not live in a town where a team was located that was in the circuit.

Upright and honest, a hard worker and a man as well acquainted with the players' side as with the business end, Quinn is all that could be desired as a president. Any decision he makes during the summer will be fair, and will be kept only after a thorough examination into the difficulty, whatever it may be.

As his secretary and right hand man he has chosen one that is one of the best known sporting writers of the Middle West, Robert W. Reed, of the Ohio State Journal. Bob, as he is commonly called, knows baseball from start to finish and in selecting him Quinn gave a sample of his good business judgment right at the start. Reed has been a friend of the Western end of the old O. P. league for several years, and his remarks or criticisms have always been timely and well placed. Reed is known to Newark fans and newspaper men as one of the most kindly and obliging fellows one would care to meet.

NOTES OF THE MEETING.

The requirement that all the teams deposit $1,000 as a guarantee that they finish the season was heartily agreed to by all the delegates.

Besides President Stassel, Frank Maurath and T. V. Rutledge went from this city and did a good bunch of lobbying and showed conclusively to the strangers that Newark had a good bunch of men supporting her. Sandy Murray had a long talk with President Stassel and expressed a desire to get back to Newark again this year. He asked about all his old friends and said he hoped to get over before long to see them.

Jack Reed of Springfield, represented that city, and while not prepared to any great amount of business on the spot, he was a good booster for his town.

From Sandusky came George J. Douzback, and his ideas were so different from the accepted ones of the other managers that he soon put his town out of the race altogether.

At the next caucus an agreement will be held as to the salary limit. Fifteen hundred dollars a month is generally agreed upon as a fair limit. This is, of course, exclusive of the salary for a bench manager.

The first official act of President Quinn was to send a request to Secretary Farrell for league rights in the territory of the ten cities mentioned. His next act was to notify President Morton of the defunct league, of the Western teams withdrawing and forming a new league.

Fifty-seven business men of Richmond are behind Manager Jessup and practically the whole town is supporting him. The town always was a good ball town, and now it will be better than ever before, thinks Mr. Jessup.

The largest delegation went from Molder town. Lancaster sent Davidson and Nohacker. Marion was well represented by Ed Staiger and O. Wollenweber. President Sturges alone represented Mansfield and Lima.

The next thing will be to pick names for the new members. Suggestions received will be forwarded to the proper authorities.

And only 59 days before Toledo comes. Are you crossing the days off your calendar?

Nineteen men have already filed applications for the job of umpire. Umpiring this year won't be as hard as it was last, and the reason is plain.

Several of the old O. P. players who have hopes of landing in the new league were present, among them being Sandy Murray, Bob Walsner, Emmett Reilly and "Zeke" Reynolds.

Tonight the Western Stars will play the Consumers at Music Hall alleys.

HOTEL WARDEN

THROWS OPEN DOORS TO PUBLIC AFTER HAVING BEEN COMPLETELY OVERHAULED.

Mr. Theodore Weiffenbach In Charge—Hostelry Presents Handsome Appearance.

After undergoing repairs continually since April 1, the Hotel Warden came out from under the hands of the decorators, plumbers and electricians and made its formal bow to the public Wednesday. The hostelry is now one of the finest in the state, being new, complete and attractive in every particular. Mr. Theodore Weiffenbach, a practical hotel man of many years of experience, who was some time ago selected as manager of the Warden, has been in charge of the re-construction of the popular hotel.

Every one of the 80 rooms of the building has been re-decorated, papered and carpeted with red or green "6000" velvet brussels carpet. The color scheme of the rooms is almost equally divided between light green and a mild, dark-red. The pretty front parlors are trimmed in dark straw-color, with red brussels carpet and are furnished with bright, new wicker chairs.

The writing room is a spacious model that would do justice to many first class city houses. Carpeted with the same material as the other rooms, and fitted out in the most attractive new furniture, it presents a beautiful appearance. In the writing room the mission style of decorating has been carefully observed. High wainscoting encircles the room while the upper part of the walls are finished in a relieving decoration of lighter color.

In place of the washstands of old, the Warden is now fitted with hot and cold running water in all of its rooms, and can now boast of a number of the best sample rooms offered by any central Ohio hostelry, by the use of which salesmen can accommodate their guests with a display of their wares in a far more attractive manner than ever heretofore.

The dining rooms can accommodate a hundred guests at a time and has been arranged on the European style. The decorations are white and red, studded here and there with electric bulbs. The dining room is carpeted with the velvet brussels of red.

With bright, new silverware, furniture and fittings, the Warden presents a most attractive appearance, and accommodations, from the dining tables to the hair mattresses, box-springed beds, and the management has announced that the hotel is now open for public inspection and attention.

Captain F. G. Warden and wife returned Tuesday night from Anson, Ala., where the captain has the Alabama hotel, and will remain for a couple of weeks. Captain Warden expresses himself delighted with the appearance of the house and the prospects for large and extensive patronage. Mr. Weiffenbach, the local manager, came here from Chicago some months ago. In the Windy City he was connected with a well-known golf club of exclusive patronage. Before this time he was for sixteen years manager of the Morton House, in Grand Rapids, Mich., claimed to be one of the most successfully managed hotels in the United States. Mr. and Mrs. Weiffenbach have taken up their permanent residence at the Warden.

A force of congenial clerks and porters are present to look after the accommodation of guests. Mr. Artemus J. Smith is the "man behind the desk" during the day time, and Mr. Henry Salvini, well-known among Ohio commercial travelers, does the night trick.

F. E. Bonny has opened his cigar and tobacco stand in connection with the lobby and already notices the effects of the opening.

With a new kitchen, a new steam heating system, a new elevator and hydraulic hoisting apparatus, and all bright and fresh, the Warden opens its bidding for the season's trade. And it may be said here, that Newark has hotels to accommodate the most fastidious and particular guests from sight-seers to business visitors.

Australian Curiosities.

There are some curious things in central Australia. Lake Amadeus in the dry season is merely a sheet of salt. Ayers rock, about five miles round, rises abruptly from the desert. Formerly vast rivers flowed here, and the diprotodon, a wombat-like creature worthy of its name and four times as large as a kangaroo, flourished on the plains. Now there are hardly any animals to be seen. The fish live in water holes of the hills until the floods wash them down to the valleys. At the end of the wet season the water from hills themselves with water, roll themselves in the mud and he low till the next rains, which may not come for two years. Meanwhile the proud frogs, like the "moons" of Robert Burns, may have the misfortune to furnish a drink to a thirsty black. The natives also get water from the roots of trees. They are in the "totem" stage and revere certain plants or animals which protect them. Men of one group can only marry women from another single group.

Don't brood over your troubles. You will only hatch out more.

Woman's World

PRINCESS VICTORIA MARGARET

A Young Prussian Princess Who is a Clever Artist.

Like so many other members of European families, the young Princess Victoria Margaret of Prussia, who in April celebrated her seventeenth birthday, is a really accomplished artist. She paints miniatures on ivory, and her work has been very highly praised by some of the greatest portrait painters in Germany.

Recently, in aid of a Berlin charity bazaar, this gifted young princess exhibited a number of her miniatures, including portraits of her parents, her three brothers, the Kaiser, the Kaiserin and of her aunt, the Duchess of Connaught, who before her marriage was, of course, Princess Margaret of Prussia.

Germany's ruler is something of an artist, too, and last Christmas he gave another example of his amazing versatility by painting six little scenes. These paintings have been reproduced on postal cards by tens of thousands and sold for charitable purposes. Now the widowed queen of Saxony and the Princess Mathilde are getting out a series of pictorial cards for the benefit of homes for consumptives, and all the illustrations of the series will be drawn by royal persons.

The Art of Talking Well.

If you quote a brilliant or clever remark of another person, always tell who said it. Do not wear stolen jewels of conversation. They will but make your own paste look duller.

Avoid saying the obvious thing which has been said by hundreds before you. "I cannot remember names, but I never forget a face"—how many times do people make that remark as if it had never been said before, as if they were unique in that respect, whereas the remark was probably made by Adam.

"I don't mind the cold, but it's the dampness;" "It never rains but it pours;" "Every dog should have his day;" "Which do you like better, Longfellow or Whittier?" "I think man and woman are each dependent on the other;" "If rich people are extravagant, it puts the money into circulation," is the style of conversation that will cause people to flee your presence as they would the stannum pool.

Never turn your readiness of thought and speech to a hurtful use. Do not put a drop of poison in the cup of cold water you hand to the world. If you do, you will have to drink it yourself some day.

It is almost impossible in these days of universal torture from the labor problem to observe the old rule of not talking about your servants, but if you find yourself drifting in that direction lift yourself out of it.

Throw it aside with some humorous point of view regarding it, and all men will call you blessed.

Avoid all references to your own peculiarities of taste, manner or thought.

If you have any marked idiosyncrasies, all your friends know it, and neither your own defense nor condemnation of your peculiarities will change the opinions of other people regarding them.

Neither will your own opinion of them make them either more or less pleasing than they naturally are. If you are in a thoroughly healthy mental state, you will not be conscious of having any peculiarities, nor, indeed, will you have any.

When you are in conversation with one person, do not let your thoughts or gaze wander to some more interesting person or group.

There is far too much of that form of rudeness, it is the habit that marks the social climber, a fear lest he or she may not be getting the best of everything.

LOCAL OPTION ELECTION LEGAL

DECISION IN JOHNSTOWN CASE RENDERED BY JUDGE BRISTER WEDNESDAY.

Plaintiff May Take Case to Higher Court—Other News of Interest From Court House.

The case of Lewis Seasholes vs. the Village of Johnstown, being a suit to contest the local option election held in that village on December 23, was concluded in the Probate court Wednesday afternoon. Wednesday morning's session was taken up by the examination of a number of witnesses on behalf of the plaintiff who had not voted at the preceding November election, but who, it was claimed, were entitled to vote. On the objection of the defendant, this testimony, Judge Brister ruled out, as not competent. Near the opening of the afternoon session the plaintiff rested his case and Edward Kibler, as counsel for the defendant village, made a motion that the court render judgment for defendant and dismiss the petition on the ground that the testimony had failed to establish plaintiff's claim or to show that there was anything illegal about the election. This motion the court sustained, dismissed the case and rendered judgment in favor of the defendant, holding the election was in all respects legal. The plaintiff then made a motion for a new trial which the court overruled and plaintiff filed exceptions. The plaintiff has 40 days to take the case to the Common Pleas court on error.

Amerecment Case. In the case of A. A. Stasel, receiver of the Newark Savings Bank company against Smith L. Redman, sheriff, the plaintiff has notified the defendant that the motion to amerce him will be heard and determined by the court on January 18, 1908, at 9 o'clock a. m., or as soon thereafter as the same can be heard.

Swartz vs. Coffman. In the case of Rebecca V. Swartz vs. Lewis Coffman as administrator of the estate of Reuben Coffman, deceased, suit brought to recover money alleged to be due her for services rendered deceased as nurse and in caring for him, the defendant has filed an answer. He says that prior to the death of Reuben Coffman on December 11, 1905, he was appointed guardian of Reuben Coffman; that a short time before the appointment, the children of Reuben Coffman offered to furnish and pay for the services of a nurse, should any be necessary or desired, to take care of and nurse their father, but that plaintiff refused to do the services of a nurse or help furnished by the children, and that by reason thereof she is estopped from making any claim against the estate. Flory & Flory, attorneys for the defendant.

Palmer vs. Miller et al. In the case of Johanna E. Palmer vs. Lewis Miller et al, the defendants Wallace Wilkin and Eli Border have filed their joint answer. They say they make no claim to either the land or timber referred to and ask the court to dismiss them from this action without any costs to them.

Building Ass'n. vs. Goff Bros. In the case of the Centerburg Loan and Building Association vs. Goff Bros. suit to settle the boundary line between lots in the Erasmus White addition to the city of Newark, on Hancock street, which has been on trial in the Common Pleas court for several days, the taking of the testimony and the oral arguments were concluded and the court reserved its decision until the parties prepare written briefs. Randolph, Flory & Flory and Tanneyhill for the plaintiff and Swartz and Hilliard for the defendant.

Suit to Recover Money. The case of Fred S. Cully against the National Silica Brick and Stone company is on trial in the Common Pleas court to the court and a jury. This is a suit to recover money for services alleged to have been rendered the defendant as civil engineer. Hunter and Slabaugh for plaintiff, Stasel and Montgomery for defendant.

Judge C. W. Seward, who has been suffering with a severe attack of grip at his home on North Second street for some days, was able to be out on Wednesday morning, for the first time. He is of the opinion that he will be able to hold court Monday morning.

Supplemental Answer. In the case of T. B. Fulton, assignee of Lewis A. Pearson vs. J. S. McConnell et al, the defendant, Isabelle Pearson, by her attorney, Robbins Hunter, has filed an amended and supplemental answer and cross petition. This is a suit brought by the plaintiff assignee to sell the lands of his insolvent debtor and the answer and cross petition sets up two judgments for temporary alimony, one for $150 and the other for $75, recovered against Lewis A. Pearson. The answering defendant also asks that the lands be sold free from her dower and that its value be paid to her in money out of the proceeds of the sale of the land.

In the case of T. B. Fulton, assignee of Lewis A. Pearson vs. Mary Pearson et al, the same defendant by her attorney, Robbins Hunter, has filed a supplemental answer and cross petition setting out and claiming the same relief as in the above case, and asking that her dower interest in the land be paid to her in money out of the proceeds of the sale.

HIS FIRST THOUGHT. President McKinley's Devotion to His Invalid Wife.

In the early days of the Spanish war Mr. McKinley and Mark Hanna were engaged in a close and serious evening conference in the president's room. The time ran along to the hour of 9. Suddenly those busy in the outer room saw President McKinley rise and leave the apartment, saying, "Wait a few moments, Mark." He was gone about twenty minutes. In the meantime Senator Hanna walked restlessly between the two rooms, speaking a word or two to the secretaries and showing plainly that he shared with the president a feeling of deep anxiety as to the outcome of the military proceedings. He remarked on the fact of great shortage of supplies and from his words and bearing revealed to the assembled few in that outer room that the president and his closest advisers were lying awake nights and working to make up for the deficiencies of the military situation.

When the president returned he and Senator Hanna resumed their anxious consultation. Then the president's secretary remarked to one who was near him:

"I suppose you wonder why President McKinley got up so suddenly and left without a word to any one. You saw how anxious he was about the military situation. Even that would not cause him to break away from what has come to be the custom of his early evening."

"About the same time every night, when he hears a signal from the other side, he knows that Mrs. McKinley is ready to retire and wishes to see him. No matter how busy he may be nor how deeply engaged in any subject, he invariably drops everything on the instant and goes to their own apartments. There he sits by the bedside and reads a chapter in the Bible to Mrs. McKinley. Then he waits a few moments until she is quiet, tiptoes back to the door, comes over here to the office and without a word takes up the thread of his work and keeps it up until toward midnight."—Chicago Tribune.

RECENT HOSPITAL REPORTS show that the dread disease, rheumatism, is steadily increasing throughout the country. All known means of relief are being suggested to save the great amount of suffering this winter, especially among those who are not in a position to pack up and visit the noted health resorts to be treated. Recent tests prove rheumatism not exactly a disease in itself, but a severe symptom of kidney trouble, a condition caused by clogging up pores of the eliminative tissues in the kidney, which fail to filter the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, permitting these substances to remain in the veins and decompose, usually setting about the joints and muscles, causing the intense pain, swelling and stiffness of rheumatism.

A well-known specialist, who has probably treated more cases of rheumatism than anyone else, and who is also the most successful, gives the following simple treatment which is harmless and inexpensive, and so simple that anybody can mix it at home.

The ingredients are: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Add to any good prescription pharmacy and get these three vegetable ingredients and mix them by shaking in a bottle, taking as a dose a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

There is nothing better in the world for backache, kidney and bladder trouble, too. Such symptoms as frequent and painful urination, soreness, weakness, general and nervous debility are caused by certain acids and poisonous waste matter, decayed tissue, etc., in the blood, which the kidneys will clear and purify after a few doses of this prescription.

HIS FIRST THOUGHT. President McKinley's Devotion to His Invalid Wife.

In the early days of the Spanish war Mr. McKinley and Mark Hanna were engaged in a close and serious evening conference in the president's room. The time ran along to the hour of 9. Suddenly those busy in the outer room saw President McKinley rise and leave the apartment, saying, "Wait a few moments, Mark." He was gone about twenty minutes. In the meantime Senator Hanna walked restlessly between the two rooms, speaking a word or two to the secretaries and showing plainly that he shared with the president a feeling of deep anxiety as to the outcome of the military proceedings. He remarked on the fact of great shortage of supplies and from his words and bearing revealed to the assembled few in that outer room that the president and his closest advisers were lying awake nights and working to make up for the deficiencies of the military situation.

When the president returned he and Senator Hanna resumed their anxious consultation. Then the president's secretary remarked to one who was near him:

"I suppose you wonder why President McKinley got up so suddenly and left without a word to any one. You saw how anxious he was about the military situation. Even that would not cause him to break away from what has come to be the custom of his early evening."

"About the same time every night, when he hears a signal from the other side, he knows that Mrs. McKinley is ready to retire and wishes to see him. No matter how busy he may be nor how deeply engaged in any subject, he invariably drops everything on the instant and goes to their own apartments. There he sits by the bedside and reads a chapter in the Bible to Mrs. McKinley. Then he waits a few moments until she is quiet, tiptoes back to the door, comes over here to the office and without a word takes up the thread of his work and keeps it up until toward midnight."—Chicago Tribune.

JOHNNY CLEM

Successfully Passes the Roosevelt Test of Horsemanship at the Presidio.

Col. John L. Clem, assistant quartermaster general, the "Drummer Boy of Shiloh," was among the officers who successfully passed Roosevelt's 15 mile test of horsemanship at the Presidio last week. Col. Clem does not owe his equestrian skill to West Point instruction, of which so many officers boast, and the reason why he is not a West Pointer is worth relating. In the early part of Grant's first term Clem obtained an audience with the president.

"Mr. President," he opened the interview, "I wish to ask you for an order to admit me to West Point."

"Why do you not take the examination?" questioned Grant.

"I did, but I failed to pass."

"That was unfortunate. How did it happen?"

"Why, you see, I was in the war while these other boys of my age were in school."

Clem was barely 18 then, and boyish looking even for his years. He had made his own way to the president and had no political sponsors to back him.

"Yes, I was in the war four years," and Clem related his experiences.

Grant wrote something which he handed to the young applicant, saying:

"Take this to the secretary of war. I guess it will fix you up all right."

Clem went back to the secretary of war, who had before received him so coldly as to discourage any one not endowed with unusual grit, and delivered his note.

The secretary read it and asked: "Do you know what this is?"

"No," replied Clem. "I suppose it is an order to admit me to West Point."

"Well, it isn't; it's an order to commission you second lieutenant in the regular army."—San Francisco Call.

EARLIER NEWARK

(By Col. Charles H. Kibler)

(Third Paper.)

In 1860, the principal church edifices were those of the First Presbyterian, built about 1827 or 1828, and from the beginning till now, conspicuous for external ugliness—of the Second Presbyterians which preceded their present building; of the Episcopalians on the east side of First street near the canal; of two Welsh Congregations on Elm and Mt. Vernon (now Fourth street); of the Baptists on the northwest corner of Fourth and Church streets; of the Methodists in a building, as I remember, on the site of the present building on the southwest corner of Fourth and Church streets; of the Catholics on or near the site of the present edifice. I was present at the laying of the corner stone of the earlier building. Arch-bishop Purcell was present and took charge of the ceremony. I think there was a small church building on Third street, south of the canal, used by the German Protestants. These denominations kept us "wretches in order." To show how we were kept in order, I am tempted to tell of an incident. When my wife and I first went to housekeeping, we had a maid as help. After a while, one evening, two venerable men called at our house to see this maid. After the interview, she said they were elders or principal members of her church and had come to discipline her. Her offense was, THAT SHE HAD BEEN TO A PARTY AND HAD EATEN CAKE. I do not mean to cast any discredit upon these good conscientious men. They were doing their duty and were enforcing the discipline of their church. The incident may suggest how lax we

The Court House was that unhand-some structure, with great Ionic stone pillars at each end (east and west), still to be seen in old pictures. The court room was on the first floor, with the entrance from the south. The clerk's office and the office of the Probate Judge were at the east end. The Recorder's and the Auditor's offices were at the west end. The Treasurer's office and the Sheriff's office were then up-stairs. Sherman Finch of Delaware, was Common Pleas Judge in 1860. The lawyers who were prominent in 1860 were William Stanbery, Samuel D. King, James R. Stanbery, George B. Smythe, Henry D. Sprague, Jerome Buckingham, William B. Woods, Charles Follett, and Daniel Humphrey. The survivor of this list is Judge Charles Follett.

Before the completion of the railroad north and the railroad east to Bellaire and west to Columbus, Newark was the market for the grain of the county and adjoining counties. This grain was shipped away on the canal. I remember one morning going north on the Mt. Vernon road that I met, on going about ten miles, more than one hundred wagons laden with wheat, attracted to market by a considerable rise in price of that grain. The other main roads were, no doubt, equally crowded. The town was an immense wagon yard. Money was plenty and was exchanged for the commodities of the merchant, the grocer and manufacturer. After the completion of the railroads every station became a market for the farmer, and the business of dealing in grain here diminished.

The Need of Common Sense.

I had a really scientific man to see me the other day, and in the course of our investigation of a point we had in common it was necessary to wash out a bottle. The bottle was empty. It was a round, waddy vessel, and he had to hold it under the water a long time so that it might get full enough of water to hold it down. I asked him why he did not fill it with water first, and he laughed and said he did not think of it. And that bears out my contention that it is not because a man is as "clever as paint" that he therefore grasps "the common sense of common things."—G. H. R. Dabbs in Fry's Magazine.

RAILROAD NEWS

Picked Up at the Station and in the Shops by an Advocate Reporter Wednesday.

It is said that the B. & O. railroad company is considering the advisability of erecting its own water pumping station at Bridgeport, on the Central Ohio division.

New Passenger Station.

Commencing today, January 15, the new union passenger station at Cambridge was put in use by both the B. & O. and the Pennsylvania railroads. George F. Smith has been appointed joint ticket agent and M. Fordyce for the B. & O. and Thomas C. Clark for the Pennsylvania, will remain in charge of the freight offices respectively. Howard Scott, at present baggage master for the B. & O., will act in that capacity for both roads.

Meeting of Railroad Officials.

The monthly meeting of the Central Association of Railroad Officials is being held in Columbus at the office in the Union depot. This is an organization with which all superintendents of railroads in this territory are affiliated. They meet every month at which time all questions pertaining to switching, the handling of freight in the yards and other important details are discussed. Superintendent J. F. Irwin, of the B. & O., at this point, was in attendance at the meeting.

Meeting of Station Agents.

Tuesday the monthly meeting of the station agents of the more important stations along the lines of the Newark division of the B. & O. railroad, including Sandusky, Mansfield, Mt. Vernon, Columbus, Zanesville, Cambridge and Barnesville, was held in the office of Superintendent J. F. Irwin, in this city. Among those in attendance was Division Freight Agent Sheridan of Columbus. These monthly meetings are held for the purpose of discussing all matters relating to the work at the different stations.

Will Report to President Murray.

Mr. D. D. Carothers, chief engineer of the B. & O. railroad, will report to the president in the future instead of to the third vice president, according to an official circular that has just been issued. The change is made so President Murray can assign Mr. Carothers to special duties when desirable, and also to permit Third Vice President Potter to give his entire attention to the operation of the road since assuming increased work.

Recovering From Injuries.

H. B. Keim, a well known and popular B. & O. railroad fireman, while running over a cut of cars in the yards at this point, fell from the top of one of the cars and sustained injuries of a very painful nature. His hands were badly lacerated and one of his shoulders was badly wrenched. He is slowly improving, but it will be some days before he will be able to return to work.

Guiseppe Pechli, an employee of the B. & O. who was so badly injured by falling some 15 feet in the Bristol tunnel, and who was brought to Newark and taken to the City Hospital for treatment, has so far recovered as to be able to be taken to his home at Bristol.

All the officers and members of Licking Lodge, No. 166, O. R. C., are requested to meet at O. R. C. hall on Thursday afternoon, January 16, at 1 o'clock, for the purpose of attending the funeral of their brother, S. J. Kuhn, which will be held from his late home, 257 Valandigham street, at 2 o'clock.

Railroad Notes.

The B. & O. will handle "The Heart of Maryland" company from Newark to Marietta on Thursday, January 16.

Engineer Eugene McConnell, who has been quite sick at his home on East Main street for some days, is reported as being considerably improved, and will soon be able to mark up for duty.

Engineer J. M. Bethel, who has been under the doctor's care for some days, suffering with a heavy cold, has O. K'd for work.

Brakeman Frank Stokes, who had one of his wrists broken some time ago, is rapidly recovering from his injury and expects to be back on his train in a short time.

The resignation of Thomas Fitzgerald from the office of general manager of the B. & O. railroad has materially changed the official status in many of the districts.

Thomas Maurer, one of the best mechanics employed by the B. & O. railroad company, at this place, met with an accident this morning which resulted in a painful injury and nearly caused the loss of his left eye. He was engaged at work on a piece of iron when a splinter struck him just below the eye, causing the blood to flow freely. He was soon back at his work.

D. F. Marzer, a well known B. & O. conductor, had the misfortune to meet with a very painful injury. He accidentally fell, cutting and lacerating his face. He is rapidly recovering from the injury, and will soon be able to return to work.

T. D. Bowman, a shop employee, was painfully injured by a side rod falling on one of his feet. He will be unable to work for a few days.

Dr. E. M. Parlett of Pittsburg, who is connected with the B. & O. relief department, and who is one of the most promising young physicians of the "Smoky City," is now acting as assistant to Dr. S. C. Priest, the B. & O. medical examiner at this point. He will probably remain here until Dr. Ashley returns from Florida.

C. E. Welsh, a well known B. & O. brakeman, while at work, had the misfortune to severely sprain one of his shoulders, which will necessitate his being off duty for some days.

Steve Leggo, a shop man, is off duty suffering with a heavy cold. Dr. T. W. Ashley, who, for the past several years, has been here as the assistant to Dr. S. C. Priest, the medical examiner of the B. & O. at this point, has, with his wife, gone to Florida, where he will spend several months, taking a much needed vacation.

Engineer Joseph Smallwood, who has been unable to work for some time on account of a severe attack of rheumatism, and has been confined to his home on East Main street, is reported as being considerably improved at this writing and expects to be able to go out on his engine soon.

UNLUCKY

Was the Amount of Board Bill and Railroad Skips—Later Arrested in Mansfield.

At least it seems that 23 was an unlucky number for M. C. Stone, a B. & O. fireman, who has been boarding at Hotel Star Store, according to Manager Fawcett of the hotel, ran a bill there amounting to $23, then he skipped out. The matter was reported to the local police department, and a description of the man was sent to surrounding cities. Stone was finally located in Mansfield, and placed under arrest to be held until an officer was sent up from here to get him. Chief Sheridan left at 1:50 over the B. & O. for Mansfield, and will return with Stone tonight.

DO YOU ENJOY YOUR MEALS?

One of the Most Important Questions to Consider in the Search for Happiness and Health.

The burning question, to you is, "Are you getting out of life all the pleasure and the health you are entitled to?" If not, why not?

No matter whether every organ and member of your body is in a sound state of health and strength, if your stomach is any way disordered, you are not going to be "yourself." You are going to be a worried, out-of-sorts, nervous or sullen individual, whose actions will reflect your condition inside, and people will naturally avoid you.

The world wants to smile and be cheerful, and unless you are cheerful and smile, at least, occasionally, you will have few friends, fewer opportunities, no success, and you will go down in defeat, defeated by dyspepsia and a bad stomach.

A good and thorough digestion has a quick, wonderful reaction upon the brain. You must have noticed it many times, for the brain and stomach are as intimately connected as a needle and its thread, one can hardly be used to advantage without the other. If your stomach is slow and lazy in digesting your food, it will produce at once a slow, lazy and cloudy influence upon your brain. Mark it! If your stomach has absolutely quit work, and fermentation is poisoning your vitals as a result, surely your brain is going to be sluggish and correspondingly depressed. No one need tell you that.

Purify and continue to suffer all the miseries and torments that a disordered stomach brings you?

If your stomach can not digest your food, what will? Where's the relief? Where's the cure?

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the relief and the cure. Why? Because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to THOROUGHLY and COMPLETELY DIGEST 3,000 GRAINS of any kind of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these little Dyspepsia Tablets are going to digest ALL the food and whatever food you put into your stomach? Science nowadays can digest food without having to use the stomach for it. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the result of this scientific discovery. They digest and digest thoroughly and well, anything, and everything you eat.

So, if your stomach refuses to work, can't work, and you suffer from eructations, bloating, flatulence, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn, irritation, indigestion, or dyspepsia of whatever form, just take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and see the difference. It doesn't cost you much to prove it. Then you can do all you want, what you want, whenever you want, if you use these tablets, and you can look the whole world in the face with a smiling eye and you will have a cheerful spirit, a pleasant face, a vigorous body and a clear mind and memory and everything will look and taste delicious to you. That's life.

Get a package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store on earth for 50¢ a package.

DEBATING LEAGUE

Held First Contest and Have Interesting Meetings—Schoolmaster's Club to Meet at Seiler.

Last Friday evening was one of interest in at least six towns of Licking county. The first of a series of debates, arranged for by the Licking County Schoolmasters' club was held. The question was: Resolved, "That the United States has reached the climax of her power."

Hanover chose the negative and met Jacksonstown at the latter place. After a strong and logical debate the judges decided by a vote of 2 to 1 in favor of the affirmative.

On the same evening the team from Jersey, Messrs. Herbert S. Berger and Perry Stevenson, took to the warpath, arrayed with all their war paint and munitions of war, and accompanied by their chief and about a dozen braves and squaws. They arrived at their enemy's camp at Kinkersville and behold! the chief of that tribe had his warriors, Messrs. Herbert Emswiler and Harold Martin, ready to meet the attack. A fierce encounter ensued and after a parley was called it was the decision of the judges, Superintendents Shinkins of Newark, Mason of Etna, and the Rev. Mr. Madden of Hebron, that Jersey had won 504 points to 501 1-2. Jersey had the negative.

The manner of judging may be of interest. The judges agreed to give the first speaker 30 points and with that as a standard, grade the others accordingly. Certainly a good idea.

On the same evening the representatives of the Alexandria High met the Pataskala High at the latter place. Alexandria had chosen the negative and put up argument sufficiently strong as to convince two of the judges that they had produced the best argument.

The debates were all successes and the debators did honor to the schools represented. If you lost, try to win next time.

Johnstown High was to have met Granville High but the latter refused to debate.

The next debates will occur January 24. Question: Resolved, "That the United States should own and control the railroads."

Seldom Wear Out

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain—not only once, but as many times as it is necessary to take them. Many persons who suffer from chronic ailments find in them a source of great relief from the suffering which they would otherwise be compelled to endure. Their soothing influence upon the nerves strengthens rather than weakens them. For this reason they seldom lose their effectiveness.

"I am 42 years old and have suffered for 42 years from nervous troubles, rheumatism and neuralgia, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and pain around the heart. The Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have been a blessing to me. I don't know what I should do without them, and they are the only remedy I have ever used that either did not wear out in less than 48 hours or gave me any relief. I have been using them for 48 hours and the pain is gone. I will be obliged to you for this information."

THE HEART OF MARYLAND.
Among all first class genuinely dramatic attractions which the management of the Auditorium has secured for the present season none will be more gladly welcomed than David Belasco's phenomenally successful American play of love and war, "The Heart of Maryland," which will be presented tonight. The cast will be represented by a company of capable players and this added to the picturesque realism of its new scenic settings will not fail to charm the large audience which will surely be present to witness its performance.

THE WIDOW BLISS.

Marshal Bazaine sat in his tent studying a map. The campaign had gone against him, and the alternative of distinction or surrender stared him in the face. Slowly the Prussian armies were closing about him. A few days more and his whole force would be at their mercy. An orderly handed him a note from a gentleman waiting without. It read:

Marshal—I am the inventor of a flying machine which can be steered in any direction. It contains a mechanism which, by the auxiliary means of clockwork, will drop explosive cartridges at stated periods, any one of which is sufficient to destroy the whole Prussian army. I am, marshal, your obedient servant.

FIREMAN PETTIPLACE.

"Show him in," said the marshal.

Mr. Pettipiece was a meek appearing little man, with a hesitating manner, who looked better fitted to superintend a Sunday school than invent means for destroying armies. He was very much overcome at entering the presence of the marshal, dropping his hat and stepping on it, then upsetting a camp stool and stumbling over it, at last sitting down in confusion when he should have stood till bidden to take a seat.

"Where are you from?" asked the marshal.

"Turtelheim, Conn., in the United States."

"Ah, an American! You Americans are very ingenious. Where is your machine?"

"On the cars at a station between this and Paris. I presented my plan to the minister of war, and he gave me transportation. I left the apparatus and came on here to see you."

The marshal called an aid-de-camp and directed him to telegraph immediately for Mr. Pettipiece's machine. Then he dismissed the inventor, directing him to report upon its arrival.

The next afternoon the machine arrived and on the following morning was set upon a platform that had been built for it during the night. The weather was propitious, and Marshal Bazaine and his staff stood beside the platform with folded arms while the whole French army waited in anxious expectation. The cartridges were placed in position and the clockwork started. Then Mr. Pettipiece turned his attention to putting in motion the propelling and guiding machinery. This he did with much agitation, and when he set the steering fan his hands trembled and his eyes were so blurred with excitement that he could scarcely see the scale which showed the direction the apparatus was set to go. Then when the fans were all whirling the anchor ropes were cut and the machine began to ascend upward and outward.

It had scarcely started when its originator turned pale. He noticed that it was not going directly for the Prussian camp, but slightly to the right. The steering fan had been so set as to cause the machine to move in a circle,

A CELEBRATED HOAX.

Story of the Fortsas Catalogue and Its Author.

CLEVER AND BRAZEN FRAUD.

This Ingenious Publication Completely Fooled the Savants and Bibliophiles of Europe and Was the Literary Sensation of Its Day.

When P. T. Barnum cynically remarked that the American people loved to be fooled he might just as well have left out the adjective, for that Americans are much more gullible than natives of other lands can very readily be called into question by anybody at all familiar with the history of hoaxdom. I suppose that for pure effrontery and ingenious brazenness the Fortsas Catalogue stands in the front rank of deception. Yet this pamphlet was foisted not upon the American public, but upon the savants and bibliophiles of Europe—men skilled in the art of books and in the detection of forgery. So cleverly was this fraud conceived and executed that it deserves to stand in the front rank of any consideration, however brief, of clever deceptions.

The Fortsas Catalogue was published in 1840—a small book purporting to be the catalogue of the private library of a certain Count J. N. A. de Fortsas of Binche, in Belgium. Although the book consisted of but fourteen pages and listed only fifty-two titles, it stirred up a veritable teapot tempest among the wise heads. The reason was not far to seek—not one of the books mentioned in the catalogue was to be found in any other library or publisher's list! They were all absolutely "sole surviving" copies of intensely interesting works. In the words of the catalogue itself, "the count pitilessly expelled from his shelves books for which he had paid their weight in gold—as soon as he learned that a work up to that time unknown had been mentioned in any catalogue." Each new research of learned investigators into the book lore of antiquity, it was claimed, "had thinned still further the already decimated ranks of the count's sacred battalion." Weary of his tremendous and self imposed task of collecting only unique specimens, the count was stated to have died on Sept. 1, 1839, and his library was now offered for sale. Apparently the fraudulent character of such master foolery was quite patent. Yet the high brows "bit" enthusiastically, and there resulted one of the most amusing incidents of the decade.

For instantly the learned book lovers were up in arms, each trying to outdo his rival and secure for himself the most precious of the treasures at the sale which was advertised. Orders poured in from all over Europe on the behalf of scholarly societies, libraries, royal families and literary epicures. One bookseller came all the way from Amsterdam just to see No. 75, the "Corpus Juris Civilis." The Princess de Ligne "for the honor of her family" ordered No. 48 at any price to suppress it on account of certain discreditable family episodes it was supposed to contain. Many other prominent persons and institutions clamored for a chance at the collection. "Men remembered having seen books that never existed," says William Shepard. "The foreman in Castellan's printing office at Tournay had distinct recollections of a bogus volume credited to his press."

Unfortunately the advertised sale never came off. On the 9th of August, the day before it was to have begun, the Brussels papers announced that the town of Binche had determined to keep the collection intact by purchasing it with public funds. The amusing part of this statement was that Binche was a most insignificant village, quite unable to purchase much of anything, let alone a universally desired library. Still, even that statement was believed.

The truth eventually transpired that the Count de Fortsas, his miraculous library and the catalogue were all the creations of an ingenious fellow named Rene Chalmers, living in Belgium. His catalogue begot a rather extensive literature of its own, which has since been collected and published under the title "Documents et Particularites Historiques sur le Comte de Fortsas." A copy of the original catalogue now rests in the Congressional library at Washington.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A Surprise For St. Kilda.

The inhabitants of the lonely Isle of St. Kilda were astonished one winter some years ago at the appearance of a great blood red, conical object floating on the wild Atlantic billows to the westward of the isle. With much difficulty the derelict was brought to shore, and as the St. Kildians had never before seen such a queer looking thing and could make no guess as to its purpose or place in the scale of created things they indulged in wild visions of its valuable nature. But when the factor came across on his yearly visit from the neighboring but distant island of Great Britain he identified it as a great iron buoy which, it subsequently appeared, had broken away from its moorings in New York harbor and drifted in the gulf stream across the Atlantic. It had taken two years in the passage.

Occasions do not make a man either strong or weak, but they show what he is.—Thomas a Kempis.

CATGUT STRINGS.

The Way They Are Made From the Intestines of Sheep.

Catgut strings, it is well known, are made of the intestines of sheep. The intestines of the full grown animal are from forty to fifty feet long.

The raw material from the stock yards is first thoroughly cleansed of fat and fleshy fiber by dull knives arranged on a drum turned by a crank. The white tough membrane that is left is then handed over to the splitter, who dexterously splits the material into even strands by bringing it against the blade of a safety razor set upright in the table before him. The strands are then spun together and placed on the drying frames.

An American E violin string requires six strands, the European four. The strands, at one end fastened to an upright post, are twisted together while still damp and pliable by means of a spinning wheel. Taken from the drying frames, the strings are cut in lengths, coiled and boxed in oiled paper for shipment. To polish the strings very fine emery paper laid on a grooved aluminum block is used. While the strings are still on the drying frame the covered block is passed over the strings, polishing as many at one time as there are grooves in the block. It can be seen that from the manner in which the strands are twisted the effect of polishing is to weaken the string.

In the essential features the process of making the fine gut strings for surgical uses or the heavy strings three-eighths of an inch thick sometimes employed for machinery, belting does not differ from the method employed in the case of the musical strings except that the latter are handled with more care.—Chicago Record-Herald.

DARING PHOTOGRAPHY.

Perilous Feats of the Men Who Manipulate the Cameras.

A man who can stand or sit on the fange of a steel beam not so wide as the sole of your shoe and 600 feet above a roaring granite paved city street, there coolly to take successful pictures of the top of the city far below him, must be possessed of three qualifications and each of the first water. He must have judgment, patience and courage, these three, and, one may add without slighting the other two, the greatest of these is courage. So writes H. G. Hunting in the Technical World Magazine.

The eager eye of the camera goes everywhere nowadays, and the man who makes picture getting his business adopts no peaceful, unexciting pursuit. If he is under contract to a great newspaper or magazine he may be called upon to secure a picture of anything from a flashlight in the black depths of a metropolitan sewer to a portrait of the fairest white slave in a Turkish harem. He may be asked to "get" a female grizzly nursing her whelps in her mountain lair to illustrate some naturalist's work at one end of the year, and before the other end has come he may snap a shutter on the lip of some smoking volcano's crater.

When you see a striking or a startling picture of man or beast in some extraordinary place or pose, do you ever stop to think where the photographer was who made the negative or how he got there?

Pepper in Olden Times.

During the middle ages in Europe pepper was the most esteemed and important of all the spices. Genoa, Venice and other commercial cities of central Europe were indebted to their traffic in pepper for a large part of their wealth. Its importance as a means of promoting commercial activity and civilization during the middle ages can hardly be overrated. Tribute was levied in pepper, and donations were made in this spice, which was frequently also used as a medium of exchange in place of money. When the Imperial city of Rome was besieged by Alaric, the king of the Goths, in 408 A. D., the ransom demanded included 5,000 pounds of gold, 30,000 pounds of silver and 3,000 pounds of pepper, illustrating the importance of this spice at that time.

For Poetical Reasons.

"Perchance," called the amiable widow, "come here!"
The little lapdog trotted meekly up. "Surely that is a strange name for a dog!" exclaimed the gentleman visitor. "What made you name him Perchance?"
"I am so fond of poetry!" explained the lady lightly.
"Madam, forgive me, but I fail to see the applicability."
"Why, silly man," exclaimed the merry widow, "I named it after Byron's dog! Don't you remember where he says, 'Perchance my dog will howl?'"

What He Knew.

Master—If your friend were to borrow 12 shillings from you, agreeing to pay 1 shilling a month, how much would he owe at the end of the year?
Pupil—Twelve shillings.
"You don't know the elements of arithmetic."
"But I know my friend."—London Scraps.

The Bonds.

"I want to get rid of some bonds."
"Out of my line," replied the lawyer. "But these are matrimonial bonds," rejoined the caller, putting a different face on the matter.—Philadelphia Ledger.

When we are happy we seek those we love. In sorrow we turn to those who love us.—Cecil Raleigh.

A LADY'S GRIEF

Grandly Dispelled.

The experience related below shows how a lady suffered from a most unfortunate case of ulcerated pimples, blackheads and unhealthy condition of her skin. It also shows the remarkable restoration to the natural, clear, soft and velvety complexion which she was entitled to enjoy:

"For ALL OTHERS FAILED.
"For 15 years I was troubled with ulcerated pimples, and my skin was sallow, oily and full of blackheads. I doctored originally and internally tried every available remedy, but without success. Was utterly discouraged and ashamed to go into society with such a terrible face. After using your treatment, I am proud of my complexion for the pimples and blackheads have disappeared and my skin is soft, smooth and fairer than ever before. Feeling very grateful for such beneficial results, I gladly recommend your valued remedies to any one afflicted as I was."
Mrs. F. J. Cook, New Market, N. H.

We are glad to cite such cases, because they mean health and happiness to those in whose behalf we have been supplying positive remedies for the past 50 years.

Hands and Feet.

It is said that Disraeli was prouder of his small hands than of all his great mental accomplishments. This was presumably because they were badges of aristocracy in their evidence that he had not been brought up to labor, and he worshipped aristocracy. And small feet of the same character—evidence that the possessor did not go barefoot when a child. Generations of carefully shod children of the nobility developed this characteristic of those of "gentle blood" as distinguished from the commonality. But such proofs of superiority were not meekly endured. In due time brainy commoners discovered that the "artistic hand" was not small, but long and slender, and then came the athletic multitude, who scorn small hands and feet as evidences of effeminacy.—Indianapolis Star.

Gray Hairs in Wall Street.

"It seemed to me down in New York the other day," remarked a Cleveland man who had just returned from the metropolis, "that one might almost recognize Wall street and the financial region by the number of gray haired young men you see. I had occasion to be in several offices on Wall street the other day, and I honestly believe more than half of the young men I saw had gray hair. I noticed the same thing along the street. It may have been just a coincidence, but I couldn't help wondering if they would have been gray just as soon if they had been at some other game for the last few years."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Stupid Fellow.

"Mary said 'No' to me last night," sighed Peter Sloman. "but I don't believe she could honestly tell why she did it."
"Oh, yes, she could," replied his cousin Kate. "She told me."
"Did she?"
"Yes, she said she didn't think you'd take 'No' for an answer."—Philadelphia Press.

PUNY CHILDREN NEED VINOL

It Builds Them Up and Makes Them Strong and Robust.

Rapid growth, overstudy, insufficient nourishment, convalescence after children's diseases, and run-down conditions make children thin and delicate and stunts development. Because Vinol contains all the medicinal, bone, tissue and body-building elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cod's livers, the useful oil eliminated and peptonated and added, it quickly restores robust health and children love it.

Mrs. C. W. Stump of Canton, Ohio, writes: "I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child to try that delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, as it restored health and strength to our daughter after all else had failed."

We have never sold a medicine in our store equal to Vinol for delicate, ailing children, weak old people, or feeble women and children, and we have no money if it fails to benefit. Dr. D. Hall, Druggist, Newark, O.

UTICA FACTORIES

Which Have Been Closed on Account of Strike, Will Resume Operations Soon.

Utica, O., Jan. 15—A dispatch has been received from headquarters at Pittsburg stating that 500 blowers and gashers had withdrawn from the Amalgamated association and that this action will permit the workmen to go to work independently. As a consequence the probabilities are that the Licking and Central glass factories of this city will resume operations within ten days with a full force of men.

It will be remembered that the men of the Licking plant struck and the manager finally signed the scale but afterwards the blowers and gashers struck because the wage agreement demanded by the flatners and cutters had also been signed and the two unions were at war.

The Utica company's factory has practically all its places filled with non-union men and is already in operation.

The Advance Glass company, manufacturers of cathedral glass, is considering the advisability of doubling the capacity of its plant.

C. E. STASEL TALKS ABOUT FIRE OF 1888

JEWETT LETTER RECALLS SOME INTERESTING INCIDENTS OF BIG BLAZE.

Face Was Covered With Ice So He Couldn't Move Muscle and Overcoat Stood Alone.

"Mr. D. C. Jewett's letter in Tuesday's Advocate was a vivid reminder of the terrible night of January 3, 1888," remarked Charles E. Stasel to the Advocate last night.

"I was in the grocery business at that time," continued Mr. Stasel, "and was one of the minute men of the fire department. I was just turning the key in the grocery door at 11 p. m., when the fire bell sounded, and in a minute I was hurrying to the scene of action. I got up town in time to find one fire engine stalled in a huge snow drift, but several of us helped push the engine on to the canal. The other engine was taken to the canal by horses.

"It was a bitterly cold night and I doubt if the firemen ever went through such an experience. The fire in the Burner & McCune hardware store was fierce, and the below zero weather made fighting it most difficult.

"I stood on duty from 11 p. m. to 3 a. m. and then got home pretty well exhausted. They came for me again at 4 that afternoon, but I was used up and couldn't work any longer.

"John Myers and I were holding a nozzle near Patton's corner where we got the full benefit of a very cool breeze that floated down Main street. The wind blew the water back upon us and into our faces. I happened to turn and see Myers' face a solid mass of ice, and the thing seemed so strange to me I started to laugh, but to my surprise I couldn't. Then I realized that my face too was covered with ice and the coating made it impossible to move the muscles of my face.

"Once during the night, Hendershot, Buehler and I were sent to the roof of the drug store corner and just then the wind shifted blowing smoke upon us. We beat a hurried retreat and I held the hose while the other two started down the ladder. Ice covered everything as well as everybody, and I slipped, knocking both men off the ladder into about 12 inches of water in the alley. The hose got away and in picking it up the full stream hit Hendershot, or perhaps it was Buehler, right in the head, knocking him down, and he was carried to the engine house for treatment.

"During the night liquid refreshments, including hot coffee were served to the firemen and I remember O. G. King opened his store and brought out a lot of nice warm gloves for the fire fighters.

"I wore a heavy overcoat that night and I remember that when I got home they cut off the gloves, and the overcoat was so coated with ice that I stood alone for hours.

"As a child man I remember I was paid $10 for that night's work. I wouldn't undertake it again for $10,000.

"The first ladies were given a fine banquet after it was all over, and along with the feast was a lot of band music and oratorical fireworks. Many of the boys were so embarrassed by the demonstration they were not able to do justice to the spread."
